

SUMMARY

A bandwidth guaranteeing, BW, process transmits data from a first group of queues to a medium. When none of the queues of the first group wishes to transmit data via the 5 bandwidth guaranteeing process, a weighted fair queuing process is provided for dividing any excess bandwidth between a second group of queues. A mathematically simple WFQ process is described which may be interrupted by the BW process and resumed with the same order etc. between the queues.

14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27